On this day of remembering we pay tribute to all those who have served our Nation in the armed forces and especially to those who have given the last full measure of devotion. We today the citizens of a free society are able to pay this tribute because of their courage. Let us promise that on our watch we will never forget what they have done for us.

It is also with the deepest reverence that we remember all of our fellow Americans who were lost to us on 9/11. Blessings on them and their families.

Thank you all for attending.
